Baidnath Kumar is a dedicated child rights activist and social development professional with over 20 years of dedicated experience in combating human trafficking, child labour, child marriage, and other forms of child exploitation. Baijnath Kumar's childhood was full of struggles. At the age of just 7, he started working as a child labourer. Alongside working, he somehow managed to pursue his education. Originally from Bihar, Baijnath came to Jalandhar, Punjab, where he worked in hotels, washing utensils, and doing other odd jobs.

Rising from personal adversity—having worked as a child labourer himself—he has transformed his lived experience into a powerful mission to protect vulnerable children across India, especially in Jharkhand. Baijnath has played a pivotal role in rescuing and rehabilitating thousands of children, leading high-impact operations in collaboration with the CID, local administration, national NGOs, and international agencies.

Since the year 2000, he has been actively working against child rights violations, human trafficking, child labour, child marriage, child sexual abuse, and other forms of human rights abuse. Through his efforts, more than 10,000 children have been rescued from child labour and trafficking, with the support of the police and government agencies.

His rescue operations have extended beyond Jharkhand to other parts of India, including Delhi, Mumbai, Bengaluru, Goa, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Tripura, and Assam, as well as cross-border regions like Bangladesh and Nepal. Through his initiatives, many traffickers have been arrested, including 36 major kingpins of human trafficking, who were sentenced to life imprisonment due to his relentless efforts.

Baijnath Kumar also filed a PIL (Public Interest Litigation) in the Jharkhand High Court for the protection of children's rights. In 2018, under the IVLP (International Visitor Leadership Program), he was invited to the United States to share his work on child rights and anti-human trafficking efforts.

Currently serving as a Member of the Child Welfare Committee in Ranchi & Khunti, he brings deep knowledge of child protection laws and grassroots realities. His work has resulted in over 220 FIRs against traffickers, the dismantling of major trafficking networks, and the implementation of key child protection initiatives, including the drafting of placement agency regulations in Jharkhand.

A recognized voice in the field, he has been honoured with numerous national and international accolades, including the prestigious President's Award for Best Child Rights Activist and participation in the U.S. State Department's International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP).

Baidnath is also a skilled trainer, policy advocate, and community mobilizer, known for building institutional networks and raising awareness at both policy and grassroots levels. His unwavering commitment and strategic activism have earned him the reputation of being a true guardian of children's rights in India. Over the years, he has been honored with several state-level and national awards and certificates of recognition for his outstanding contribution to society.

WORKS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Child Rights Foundation is a remarkable story of resilience and transformation. Founded on the lived experiences of Baidnath Kumar—who migrated from Samastipur, Bihar to Jharkhand at the age of seven—the organization is driven by a deep commitment to child protection. Due to extreme poverty, Baidnath himself was forced into child labour in brick kilns, hotels, and hostels while continuing his education. These early challenges ignited his awareness of child rights and laid the foundation for what would become a lifelong mission to protect vulnerable children.

Over the past two decades, the Foundation has emerged as a frontline force in the fight against child trafficking, child labour, abuse, and child marriage in Jharkhand and beyond. Under the leadership of Baidnath Kumar, the organization has directly contributed to the rescue and rehabilitation of over 10,000 children, and facilitated the enrolment of 1,034 school dropouts through bridge courses in Khunti, Simdega, and Ranchi districts. Between 2006 and 2008, in collaboration with Bachpan Bachao Andolan and ATSEC, it led targeted rescue operations and ensured the rehabilitation of 212 child labourers' families through various government schemes.

The Foundation's efforts led to Jharkhand's first FIR on human trafficking in 2012, and since then, it has facilitated over 247 FIRs on trafficking and 97 FIRs on missing children. One of its landmark operations was a CID-led raid in Delhi that resulted in the rescue of 84 trafficked girls from Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, and West Bengal. Through detailed documentation and sustained legal efforts, the organization helped expose 240 illegal placement agencies and bring 23 of 36 major traffickers to justice.

The Foundation also played a pivotal role in registering Jharkhand's first FIR on child marriage, rescued numerous missing children (including a 3-year-old within 24 hours using social media), and filed several Public Interest Litigations (PILs) advocating for the implementation of the POCSO Act, and for the seizure of traffickers' properties under the PMLA Act.

Even while Baidnath Kumar was participating in the U.S. Department of State's International Visitor Leadership Program (IVLP) in 2018, the organization remained active in the field. During that period, when five girls from a street play awareness team were gang-raped by traffickers, swift action by the Foundation led to immediate FIRs and life imprisonment sentences for the culprits within a year.

Recognized by the media as “Jharkhand ke Bhaijaan” for reuniting hundreds of children with their families, the organization has also contributed significantly to policy reforms. It was instrumental in the drafting of the Domestic Work Bill 2016 and proposed regulatory frameworks for placement agencies. Through grassroots mobilization and public advocacy, the Foundation has helped transform public perception—empowering communities to act. This shift is evident in the sharp rise in trafficking-related FIRs, from just 23 cases between 2000 and 2010 to over 300 in the last five years.

CID Probe Sought in Bokaro Minor's Suicide Allegedly Linked to Illegal Child Labour

In a disturbing case from Bokaro district, a minor girl employed in the household of Traffic Station In-charge Nutan Modi tragically died by suicide, allegedly by hanging. The girl had been sent to live with her aunt, Nutan Modi, under an agreement made on October 8, 2020, at Satgaon police station in Koderma, with the stated purpose of continuing her education. However, instead of attending school, she was reportedly made to perform household chores. On November 10, 2023, Nutan Modi informed the girl's brother about the incident and admitted her to Medanta Hospital in Ranchi without notifying the police, raising serious concerns about her conduct. In response, Baijnath Kumar, Secretary of the Child Rights Foundation, wrote to the Director General of Police (DGP) requesting a CID investigation, citing possible violations of the Juvenile Justice Act, including illegal child labour and failure to report the incident to authorities as mandated by law.

CASE NARRATIVES AND ORDERS ISSUED PURSUANT TO THE INITIATIVES

Case 1: # NHRC Orders Compensation and FIR in Khunti Police Assault on Minor

On 16th February 2025, police from Khunti District, led by SI Santosh Rajak, raided a village in search of a human trafficking suspect but failed to find him. Instead, they vandalized the suspect's home and forcibly took his 16-year-old son, Shiva Kumar Singh, to the Khunti Women's Police Station, where he was brutally beaten to reveal his father's whereabouts. The boy's mother informed her brother, who found the injured child at the station, after which he was taken to Khunti Sadar Hospital for treatment. The grievance was taken by the Child Rights Foundation a trust working for rescue and wellbeing of the children in need. An inquiry confirmed the assault, leading to SI Rajak's immediate suspension and initiation of departmental proceedings. The Human Rights Commission held that the incident violated the child's Right to Life and Dignity, issued a show-cause notice to the Jharkhand Government on compensation of ₹1 lakh, and directed the Superintendent of Police to register an FIR against the erring officer and involved villagers under the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, and the Juvenile Justice Act.

मानवाधिकार आयोग को वैद्यनाथ कुमार की ओर से इस मामले में शिकायत भेजी गई थी। जाच के बाद आयोग ने पाया कि पीड़ित वच्चा नावालिंग था और उसे पुलिस ने गैरकानुनी तरीके से हिरासत में लिया और बेहाली से पोंटा। यह न केवल भारतीय न्याय संहिता, 2023 विलक्षण न्याय अधिनियम का भी स्पष्ट उल्लंघन है।

Case 2: # NHRC Seeks Inquiry into Alleged Police Harassment Leading to Ramgarh Woman's Suicide

On 30 July 2025, Baidhnath Kumar, Secretary of the Child Rights Foundation, Ranchi, lodged a complaint with the National Human Rights Commission alleging that a young woman from Indira Nagar, Ramgarh, Jharkhand, died by suicide after repeated harassment by local police in connection with Ramgarh Thana Case No. 383/2024. In a four-page suicide note, she accused officers of frequently summoning her to the police station under the pretext of investigation and subjecting her to mental harassment. Despite her earlier written complaint to the Women's Police Station about blackmail, threats, and intimidation from multiple mobile numbers, no effective action was taken. The incident was also covered by local media, featuring the family's account. The complainant sought a CID judicial inquiry into the police's handling of her complaint, changes in the investigating officer, call record analysis, and review of police station CCTV footage. Finding prima facie evidence of serious human rights violations, the Commission, presided over by Hon'ble Member Shri Priyank Kanoongo, took cognizance under Section 12 of the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993, and directed the SP, Ramgarh, to conduct an inquiry and submit an Action Taken Report within four weeks
